

KG-A FOOD STALL 31st AUGUST 2022

The food stall that was set up by children of KG A today was simply fantastic. While some kids were shy, others were overly exuberant. Every child was aware of the occasion and their role in it. They understood why they were all wearing aprons and caps, why they should wash their hands, why they should eat fruits and curd. The credit for such a joyous and well organized show must go to their caring bunch of teachers.

The children were happy to have their parents as their guests. Waving their hands, smiling, shying and amused they participated with full zest.

The task assigned to each was carried with a mixture of assurance and hesitation, starting with removal of the curd from the pack, mixing sugar in it, slicing the fruits and adding them to the curd.

It gave a feeling of joy and satisfaction to one and all to see their expressions while effortlessly alternating between taking turns, sitting patiently (in front of the seductive sugar) and surreptitiously licking some sugar.

It takes patience to complete everything with each and every child, and they did a great job at it. All of the participants, including teachers, Didis, Aniket, children and parents (who were managing their emotions), played out their respective part admirably. This kind of engagement and nurturing would be wonderful for an all-round development of our children. BRAVO SANTA MARIA.
