Field Trip Report: Visit to Air Force Museum, Delhi

Date: 20/09/23

Introduction: The students of Santa Maria Integrated Learning Environment, from the Kindergarten (KG) section, embarked on an exciting educational journey to the Air Force Museum in Delhi, India. This field trip was organized as part of our commitment to providing holistic learning experiences for our young learners. Accompanied by their dedicated class teachers and a few parents, the students explored the fascinating world of aviation and history on a sunny day in Delhi.

Morning at School: The day began with a circle time at school, where the children where a discussion took place about the visit. Children were then asked to eat light and nutritious breakfast to energize them for the day ahead. They also had access to the school's washroom facilities to ensure their comfort during the trip. Principal mam also talked to kids and energised them for the trip.

Journey to the Museum: The students travelled to the Air Force Museum in a comfortable school bus. Along the way, they had the opportunity to observe the bustling traffic and the impressive overbridge, providing them with a glimpse of the city's infrastructure.

Arrival at the Museum: Upon arrival at the museum, the students were organized into a queue, led by their class teachers. The teachers obtained the necessary passes and distributed sunscreen to protect the children from the bright sun, ensuring their safety and well-being throughout the visit.

Exploration and Learning: The Air Force Museum proved to be a treasure trove of knowledge and excitement for our young learners. They had the privilege of witnessing a wide array of exhibits, including fighter jets, airplanes, MIGs, Sukhoi, the Apollo moon lander, a statue commemorating a fighter pilot who gave his life in the 1971 war, a military jeep, a tank, and a helicopter.

Their class teacher and museum guide explained the historical significance and details of each exhibit, making the learning experience informative and engaging. During the tour, Rosy Mam even treated the students to a delightful rendition of an airplane-themed song, adding a touch of music and fun to the educational journey.

5. Return Journey: After an enriching experience at the museum, the students returned to the school bus, where they were treated to a snack of biscuits. The day's activities had left them tired, and some of them even took the opportunity to rest and nap on the way back to school.

Memories Captured: Throughout the trip, numerous photographs were taken, capturing the excitement and wonder on the faces of our young explorers. These pictures serve as a testament to the memorable experiences shared by our students during their visit to the Air Force Museum.

Conclusion: The field trip to the Air Force Museum was an educational and memorable experience for the Kindergarten students of Santa Maria Integrated Learning Environment. It provided them with valuable insights into the world of aviation and history while fostering a sense of curiosity and wonder. We believe that such experiential learning opportunities play a pivotal role in nurturing well-rounded individuals.

We extend our gratitude to the teachers, parents, and staff members who made this trip possible and safe for our students. We look forward to more such enriching experiences in the future.

Please enjoy a selection of pictures from the trip that capture the essence of our students' adventure.

Sincerely,
