

OUTDOOR VISIT TO THE POST OFFICE

"Not All Classrooms have walls" this is totally justified by the outdoor visit program by Santa Maria Integrated Learning Environment School. I, Mohit Sharma, had the pleasure of volunteering for this outdoor visit.

Today the Outdoor visit was at the Vasant Kunj Post Office.

Firstly, the children were made to sit together and they did warm-up and breathing exercises as a start before any outdoor visit. The teachers explained the children about Postcards, the address on the postcard and other details. The children were really happy to check the Postcards that they had created with their name and details.

Now we were ready to leave for the Post Office. All the children were made to stand in the line with their water bottles and we headed towards the bus to start our journey. During our journey the children's and teachers were continuously pointing out to cars, bikes and traffic signals, it was good to see that as their observation skills were getting enhanced.

On reaching the Post office the teachers and staff members guided the children outside the bus with care which was really pleasing. The teachers briefed the students about the Post Office logo the Red Circle with yellow lines, the Red-Letter box to emphasis the learning with the colors which was really a fun way to learn for the kids.

Once the children entered the post office, they saw how the postman and staff worked, the different shelves for letters to different locations which was really fascinating for them.

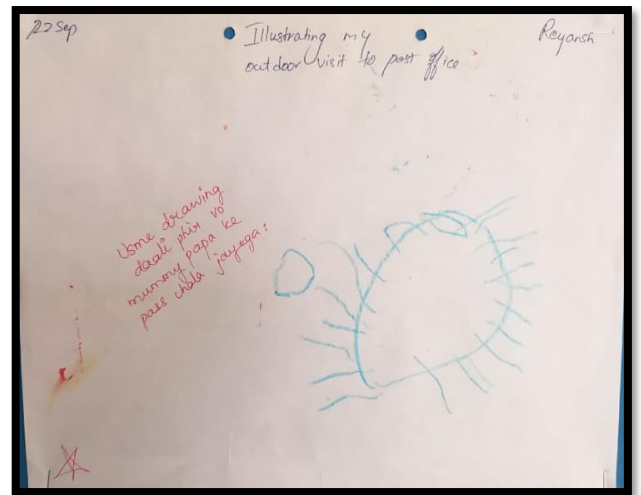

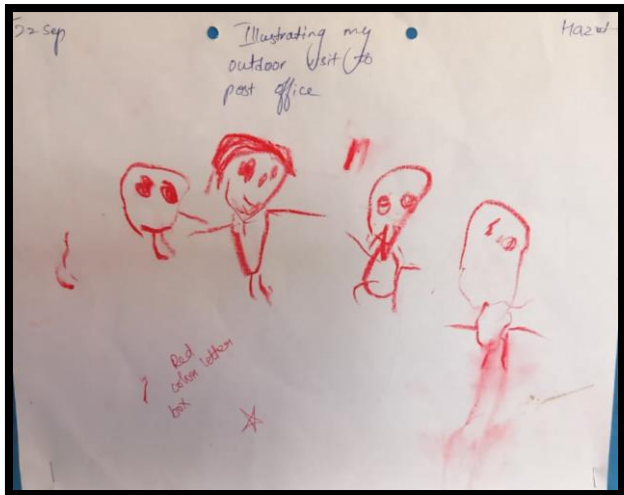

After that the Postman stamped the postcards for all the children it was time to post them in the letter box. After this the beautiful outdoor visit came to an end and we were ready to leave back for our school.

The teachers and school staff were very attentive with the kids as they ensured they stay together and very continuously taking care of the count which was quite commendable. During our journey back to school the kids were provided with biscuits and water to refresh them.

On reaching back to school the kids engaged in recalling the visit through an illustration.

At last, I would like to thank the teachers Sangita and Jyoti Ma'am, the Principal, the staff and the delightful students of Nursery B from Santa Maria School for allowing me to be a part of this visit. I would love to be a part of this again.
